California Boys Pay Short Visit to Salem

The 26 young men, or rather boys, high school club winners of California, arrived in the city this morning on their special Pullman at 7 o'clock and were given a breakfast at the Marion hotel as part of their entertainment by the Commercial club.

Joseph H. Albert, president of the Commercial club and the Rev. James Elvin and E. T. Porter, appointed as a committee on entertainment were in charge of the young men and escorted them during their brief visit in the city.

Following the breakfast, when addresses of welcome were made by Mr. Porter and Mr. Elvin, the young men were taken to the Loju plant where they were given an insight into one of Oregon's leading industries and then to the Salem Fruit Union where Oregon apples were passed around while the advantages of union among the farmers were explained to them.

At the penitentiary, Warden Minto showed the young Californians what had been done in the flax mill and each was presented with a small bundle of flax as a memento of another of Oregon's industries.

The governor's office was next shown to the travelers and each boy was introduced to the state's chief executive. At 9:22 they left for Portland.

Three Guns Stolen and Two Are Returned

While Truman Waldorf, of 1105 North Sixteenth street, was absent from the city last week at Sheridan, to which place he was moving his household goods, three guns were stolen from his house. On his return he investigated among the young boys of the neighborhood with the result that two guns were returned yesterday at the noon hour by Mark Waldes and Herbert Barker, who say they found the weapons in a ditch while on their way to school. Chief of Police Welsh questioned the lads yesterday evening and came to the conclusion that they were not implicated in the theft of the guns.

The best gun of the three is still missing and Mr. Waldorf attaches more value to it than to the others, as the man who owned it is now fighting for the allies in the trenches in France. The gun was left with Mr. Waldorf for safekeeping and if the owner does not return it is to become the property of one of Waldorf's daughters.

Chief of Police Welsh said this morning the officers had a clue as to who stole the guns.

Loyal Sons Hold Annual Home Coming

Tonight at the First Christian church the Loyal Sons will hold the annual homecoming and election of officers. Among the boys who saw service in Company M are Edgar Rowland, Frank Zinn, Charles Bayes, Jack Bayes and Victor Brander, Ralph Mercer and Charles Walker, members of the class during the past year are now in the United States navy; Ward Wolfe is in the U. S. marine and Wallace Brown is seeing service in the U. S. regulars.

All of which seems to indicate that an organization of young men devoted to the welfare of their church may also include those who have the proper fighting spirit. Last year this class was the largest of its kind in the state with 75 members and an average attendance of 32.

Capture Guns on Way to Lower California

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 17.—Ten machine guns consigned to the William H. Hoagse Sporting Goods company of Los Angeles and valued at $1000 each were seized in the Santa Fe freight yards today by United States deputy marshals. Although there was nothing on the boxes in which they were packed to indicate where they came from, it is thought certain they are from an arms manufacturing company in Connecticut.

These are the guns destined ultimately to be delivered to Governor Cantu by delivery Fred Date, C. J. O'Reilly and Julian Trens are now under arrest charged with violating United States neutrality.

Eastern Oregon Has Most Prosperous Year

M. J. Gohessy, a real estate dealer of Portland, who has just returned from a tour of Central Oregon, stopped in the Governor's office this morning on business. During his trip through Central Oregon he traveled 1640 miles by automobile and over 1000 miles by railroad and he says that the state is so prosperous.

Expense budgets for the ten state institutions were the subject of discussion at the meeting of the state board of control yesterday afternoon and that body will submit to the next legislature an expense account calling for an appropriation of $1,862,009.04 with which to run them during the years 1917 and 1918.

The expense accounts of the various institutions were carefully investigated and the estimates submitted by their heads gone over. The amounts above quoted will probably amount to $224,461.13 more than that asked for from the legislature of 1915. This amount may be increased by $8000 should the board decide to construct a water reservoir for the school for the Feeble Minded. In the work of going over the estimates of the heads of the ten institutions the board of control has eliminated items which approximate $200,000, which is considered to be about as narrow a margin as can be met safely.

For the Pendleton branch of the Insane Hospital the total amount asked for will be $242,110, against $308,159, 25 asked for from the last legislature; for the Oregon penitentiary $243,500 against $293,554.88 for the past two years; Oregon state hospital for the insane $715,180; the state training school for boys $28,234.50. This is a considerable amount of an increase over last year, which was $65,275, and is due to the fact that the completion of the

Stock Market Booms and Prices Climb

New York, Oct. 17.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Although heavy profit taking liquidation was effective at times in bringing about decided irregularity in market movements today, the general course of prices in the best part of the five hours of business was in the direction of higher levels with especial strength in the steel, copper and shipping shares, in the sugar stocks and in various specialties. Offerings were easily absorbed and commission house demand for public account was in evidence, particularly in some of the low priced issues in which equities are rapidly increasing in value because of expanding earnings, as for instance in the paper shares which have been features in recent days.

As the session progressed the standard issues became more active with increased interest reported in United States Steel, which sold well above its closing of the preceding day.

Total sales were well in excess of a million shares, with decided activity in the last hour when the leather issues and General Electric were among the strong features.

they have nothing but twenty-dollar gold pieces about them.

"They are enjoying exceptional prosperity," he declared. "And their dry-farming projects have been a great success, a success that cannot be laid to the war or republican or democratic administrations. The dry-farming in Crook and other counties has yielded the growers 27 bushels of wheat to the acre where as in past years only 7 and 8 bushels were grown. This is attributed to the moist spring of 1911."

"Farmers are able to pay off the purchase price of their farms and still have money in the bank. In this good luck region there were others, patches of two or three hundred acres that yielded from 30 to 35 bushels per acre."

"Prices for sheep and wool are the highest ever known, and cattle are bringing the top-notch prices. The general impression I have received of this country therefore has been good. Prineville, Culver, Bend, and Redmond are all prosperous."

"In regard to politics I believe this part of the state, with probably Crook county as an exception, will vote solidly for Hughes. Crook county I believe is pretty evenly divided but I am satisfied Oregon will go republican."
